Rabat may have accepted the Soviet offer of assistance for all three services of Morocco's armed forces made last November by Marshal Sokolovsky. If so, the USSR in addition to providing artillery and tanks and additional aircraft may also supply light naval craft. The arms already delivered and those known to be on order will in all probability require the services of additional Soviet technicians for operational and maintenance training of Moroccan personnel. Some Moroccans may also be selected for training in the Soviet Union.

The King reportedly accepted the Soviet arms in an effort to emulate the neutralist politics and successes of Nasir, whose methods he greatly admires, and also to build up his forces in the face of the relatively large garrisons of Spanish troops in the enclaves of Ceuta and Melilla. He also has been impatient with the difficulties and delays experienced in acquiring modern Western materiel
